Subject: EUA Newsletter 2/2021: Universities without walls, EUA Annual Conference, Brexit: what the deal means for universities
With this EUA Newsletter, I am very pleased to announce that the Association has launched a seminal document on the future of Europe’s universities. “Universities without walls – A vision for 2030” is the result of extensive consultations with EUA members, experts and partners. It sets out a vision of open and engaged universities, serving Europe’s societies towards a better future.

The document comes at a crucial moment as the world grapples with the impact of Covid-19, along with other major global challenges. EUA’s vision will support the development of the European Education Area and the European Research Area and provide useful guidance as universities refresh their institutional strategies in a rapidly changing world.

The vision will be at the heart of ambitious discussions at the 2021 EUA Annual Conference, “Universities 2030: From vision to reality”. Registrations are now open for this online immersive event. It will be held on 22-23 April and will include interactive audience participation and rich opportunities for networking.
I would like to highlight another very important EUA publication, “EU-UK relations after Brexit: what the deal means for universities”. To better understand the new relationship, EUA has prepared this briefing on the specific implications for universities. It covers EU programmes, travel, data protection and private provision of education services.

I hope you enjoy this EUA Newsletter and may its many contents serve you well.

Amanda Crowfoot
EUA Secretary General
